Extraordinary Innovations and Emerging Trends in Transplantation and Oncology from Nebraska Medicine

Exhibitor & Supporter Prospectus

July 12–13, 2016

CenturyLink Center
Omaha, Nebraska

An Invitation to Exhibit

OptumHealth Education, Nebraska Medicine and University of Nebraska Medical Center are working together to provide attendees with in-depth knowledge of the latest developments in oncology, solid organ- and blood/marrow transplantation. Clinical experts will provide innovative approaches to management and support of patients with complex cancers and organ failures; advances in oncology treatments and clinical trials; and insight into the physical, psychosocial and financial impact to patients undergoing cancer treatment.

This conference will focus on providing nurses, case managers, medical directors, physicians and advanced practice providers with information they need to more effectively manage their patient population. This program is also designed for health care professionals who care for and/or manage benefits for oncology patients, end-stage organ failure patients, and solid organ- or blood/marrow transplant patients.

Your organization is invited to take advantage of the conference via exhibit display and meet face-to-face with this audience of clinicians, coordinators, medical directors, and other health care professionals.
